

That's Worth Sharing!

Gary;

Fantastic Word for me and my family.

We appreciate your ministry so much.

Blessings,

This one is so right on! ...Hey, I'm still wearing my "Born to Farm" John Deere t-shirt I told you about the last time we spoke on the phone (about sowing and reaping)... Yep, that t-shirt's taken on such a spiritual meaning for me -- I love it!!! I was truly born to farm, and plant seeds, and He continues to equip me to do it! Yes, God is removing the "time" element. He's so awesome!!! Also, I have now personally experienced the part where you mentioned that "every enemy has an expiration date on it"... I did literally wake up one day (about 1 month ago), and God had delivered me from the bondage of Anxiety that I have experienced for multiple years throughout my lifetime. I'm still in awe about this and I give Him all the praise that He chose to remove that thorn from my life. I'm having to learn to function differently (without it; which has been a foreign concept until now). I'm just smiling, and embracing His plan for me, trusting He will continue to lead me and teach me and renew me. I love the Lord so much, and He amazes me! Thanks so much for Sharing His Word!! I just thought the personal testimony here would bless you.... Andrea

Hi Gary -

I totally, totally, absolutely LOVE this message!!!! Having experienced the "not paying attention to my internal GPS" and gone my own way and landed very much on my butt many a time and then turning it around and really listening and paying attention to what the Holy Spirit inside of me told me to do and realizing that my whole life changed for the better and continues getting better and better every day.

I love how you said that there are places that have Supernatural Provision - God's zip codes - how fabulous!!! Thanks so much for sending these Words. I really appreciate it and continually think about what I read.

Love ya,

June

Dear Gary,

Thanks so much for sending your fabulous new e-mails with "A Prophetic Voice Declaring The Truth". I say Amen to all of them. I especially loved the one you sent on April 7th. I absolutely know attitude is the key to so many things and to being able to see the blessings that surround us.

I am very grateful that you are in my life. You're a great teacher and prophet. Steve and I look forward to seeing you on the 26th!

Hugs and love,

June

Man did this word minister to me. It couldn't have been more powerful if you were standing in front of me telling me this to my face. I know that this word was for me. I've been whining to God and honestly acting a lot like Naaman and didn't realize it. Thank you for obeying God and for your honesty!

I've been able to hear you minister at your Lampasas meetings. I'm from the Brownwood area and we would love to see you here again.
